Honesty is so important and should be taught early in primary schools up to final years in college.

After having fully graduated from universities our youth shall have already been taught how important integrity is and will have this ingrained in youthful minds.

Success will not have its way through deceit. We inculcate this into fertile minds that, firstly, our conscience should dictate a wrongdoing as morally wrong. Secondly, we owe it to our society and to fellow students as we adhere to rules and laws. Thirdly, we must be responsible for actions seen and known.

By this, students will have learned to really take care of not only the system but be responsible for actions which if wrong will have consequences. For this very reason, integrity, honesty, truth is upheld in institutions to makes societies a safer place to live.
