

For Teachers: Please read each dialogue to the student as well as the titles of the pieces. In this part, do not read the question, situation or answers to the question to the student. They are here for your review. Please have the student read the answer rather than merely saying the number. After each question, please wait for the student to answer the question before continuing.

Part 3 – Real Life

L1E 12-3

In this part, you will hear five passages, (F) through (J). The passages represent real-life situations. Each message will have one question, No. 21 through No. 25. Before each passage, you will have 10 seconds to read the situation and question written in your test booklet. After you hear the message, you will have 10 seconds to choose the best answer and mark your answer on your answer sheet. The passage will be given only once. Now, let's begin.

(F) You have 10 second to read the situation and Question No. 21. There are several ways to cut your water use. Upgrading your toilets to low-flow models would help. The toilets cost about £200 each, with another £100 for installation. I see you've already installed low-flow shower heads in the bathrooms. That was good, since they only cost about £30 and save a lot of

No. 21

Situation: You want to reduce your high monthly water bill. You have a budget of £250 for renovations. You hire a contractor and she suggests the following.

Question: What should you do?

- 1 Replace your current toilets.
- 2 Replace your showerheads.
- 3 Remove your fountain.
- 4 Remove some of your lawn.

(G) You have 10 second to read the situation and Question No. 22. You only had a part-time study scheduled last semester, so you'll have to take more courses from this semester if you want to graduate next year. You still need 32 credits to graduate; 24 from required courses and 8 from elective courses. I know you need to continue working as much as possible, so one idea is to ask your employer to hire you as an intern, which would only require them to submit some paperwork online. That way, you'd fulfill most of your elective credits. Otherwise, you'll have to reduce your hours to take more classes. On-campus employment would have offered more flexibility in terms of working around classes, but the application period has already ended. You could also consider summer school, but that alone wouldn't be enough, and those sessions generally offered required courses only.

Now mark your answer on your answer sheet.

No. 22

Situation: You are a university student. You want to graduate next year but do not want to reduce your working hours. Your academic advisor tells you the following.

Question: What should you do?

1 Apply to summer school.

In cases where people would receive only a few hundred dollars back from a claim for repairs, I'd usually recommend they simply pay the costs themselves. The reason is that a claim can affect how much you pay for insurance. Normally, a surcharge is added to payments after an accident claim, and this can amount to several hundred dollars a year for three years. The law is different in the state of New York, though. No driver can be made to pay a surcharge for accidents if the total claim is less than $1,500, as long as there were no injuries. So it's a pretty straightforward decision in your case.

Now mark your answer on your answer sheet.

No. 23

Situation: You were in a car accident in New York. The estimate for repairs is $720. No one was injured in the accident. Your insurance agent gives you in the following advice.

Question: What should you do to ensure the least financial loss?

1 Pay the surcharge.

- 2 Make a claim.
- 3 Change your insurance policy.
- 4 Pay all the repair costs yourself.

(I) You have 10 second to read the situation and Question No. 24. You are entitled to a tax-free allowance of £6,475 on your U.K. income. If your total income was less than that amount, you can claim back the taxes you paid up to the time of your departure. Before you left the U.K., your employer should've given you a P45 tax form showing your tax and income figures. If you don't have that form, it cannot be reissued. However, the Customs and Revenue Department will accept in its place a statement of earnings from your former employer. Even if your earnings exceed the tax-free allowance, you may be due a refund. You can determine the amount by typing your income and tax figures into the online tax refund calculator. People with earnings under the tax-free limit can also get a refund on their National Insurance payments. However, only current residents of the U.K. are entitled to make this claim.

(J) You have 10 second to read the situation and Question No. 25. Your phone's pretty old, so it's not surprising you're having trouble with your battery. I'd give you a free replacement battery, but they don't make this type any more. Your best bet is to get a new phone. If you need fast Internet browsing capabilities, I recommend the PS50. The battery lasts more than two days even when used a lot. Looking at your contract, you have enough credits to cover part of the cost, so you'd only have to pay $100. If you just want to a phone for general use, your credits would cover an upgrade to the TR55. The battery lasts about three days if you only use the phone for talking and sending messages. If you keep your current phone, your only option is to carry your charger everywhere and plug it in whenever possible, which is obviously impractical.

Now mark your answer on your answer sheet.
