

G3 Reading & Speaking Practice Lesson #42

Story

Recently, more supermarkets in Japan have started a new kind of service. These stores deliver food and other goods to people's homes. As a result, people can get what they need without going to the store. Some supermarkets take orders over the Internet, so they can give customers better service.

Vocabulary

service

deliver

goods

as a result

over the Internet

Questions

1) What have supermarkets in Japan recently started?

They have started a new kind of service.

This document is for use in eTOC training sessions, use outside of eTOC is strictly prohibited.

2) What is the new service?

They deliver food and other goods to people's homes.

3) What is the result of the new service?

People can get what they need without going to the store.

4) How are some supermarkets giving customers better service?

By taking orders over the internet.

5) Have you ever ordered things online from a local supermarket?

Yes, I have./No, I haven't.

6) What is the benefit of being able to order things online?

You can choose from a larger selection of items than would be in a store.

7) What is the drawback of ordering online?

The product might not match the description or clothes can be the wrong size.

This document is for use in eTOC training sessions, use outside of eTOC is strictly prohibited.

8) How do you usually go to the supermarket?

I usually walk to the supermarket.

9) What kinds of things do you buy at the supermarket?

I often buy things to make dinner as well as snacks.

10) Many restaurants have closed their dining areas and instead are offering delivery service. Do you use these services?

No, I don't. I have been cooking at home more instead.

USE & PRINTING outside of eTOC are strictly PROHIBITED.

Not for use outside Flex English Community