Teacher's Script

Questions 1 through 3 refer to the following telephone message.

Hello, this is Carol Watson calling from Weston Manufacturing. I'm reaching out to let you know that we've completed the initial setup of the new machinery you ordered for your production line. Our technicians ran several tests this morning, and everything appears to be working correctly. However, we do recommend scheduling an additional calibration check after your team has used the equipment for a full week, just to make sure everything remains aligned during regular operation. I've also sent an email containing the full user manual and the maintenance schedule. If you have any questions or would like to book a follow-up visit from one of our specialists, feel free to reach me directly at this number. We're confident this upgrade will help improve

Questions 4 through 6 refer to the following public announcement.

Good evening, residents. This is a reminder from the Westbridge Community Council regarding tomorrow's city-wide water shutoff. As part of an ongoing pipe maintenance project, water will be unavailable from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in several neighborhoods, including Lakeview, Highland Park, and Brookstone. We strongly recommend that you store any water you may need for drinking, cooking, and cleaning ahead of time. Crews will begin setting up at 8 a.m., but there will be no disruption to road traffic. Please note that any scheduled outdoor water usage, such as lawn irrigation or car washing, should be postponed until service resumes. If the maintenance is completed earlier than expected, service will be restored ahead of schedule, and a notification will be sent out by email and text message. Thank you for your understanding and cooperation as we work to improve our city's infrastructure.

feedback has been extremely positive—both from customers and from our retail partners. In fact, we've already seen a 15% increase in sales for the affected product lines. That's an outstanding result for just four weeks. I'd like to thank Lisa and her team for leading this effort and for coordinating with logistics to ensure smooth distribution. We'll be discussing expansion into other markets during next month's strategy session, but in the meantime, please continue directing any inquiries to the marketing department. Now let's move on to our operations report.

You're listening to WQKZ, your source for local news and culture. I'm Mark Jefferson, and here's a quick update on a major development downtown. After nearly two years of planning and construction, the city's new performing arts center is finally opening its doors this weekend. Located on the corner of Eighth and Main, the center features a 900-seat concert hall, an open-air plaza, and dedicated rehearsal space for local artists. The official ribbon-cutting ceremony will be held this Friday at 6 p.m., followed by a free outdoor concert. Attendees are encouraged to arrive early, as seating will be first come, first served. In its first season, the center will host a variety of performances, including classical music, modern dance, and independent theater productions. Visit WQKZ.com for the full event calendar and ticketing information. Stay with us for more updates every hour on the hour.

Questions 25 through 27 refer to the following business report.

Let's take a look at this quarter's performance figures. Overall, sales revenue grew by 8%, driven primarily by stronger-than-expected demand in the home electronics division. We also saw solid performance in our European markets, particularly in Germany and the Netherlands. However, operating costs rose slightly due to increases in shipping and warehousing fees. The company's new fulfillment center in northern Italy began operations in July, and we expect this to reduce costs moving forward. Meanwhile, our digital marketing team launched two new ad campaigns in July and August, which contributed to increased web traffic and online sales. Customer satisfaction scores remain high across all product lines, and we've received especially positive feedback on our new customer support chat system. We'll continue to monitor these trends closely as we plan for the next quarter.

26. What change may help reduce expenses?
