Teacher's Script

Questions 1–3

Good morning, everyone. Thank you for joining our company orientation session. My name is Robert, and I'm part of the human resources team. Today's presentation is designed to give you an overview of how our company operates, what benefits are available to you, and what resources you can access during your first year. To begin, let me talk briefly about our history. The company was founded nearly 40 years ago and has grown from a small local office into an international business with branches in more than a dozen countries. Despite this expansion, we've tried to maintain the same family-like atmosphere. We want employees to feel comfortable asking questions, contributing ideas, and finding a good balance between their work and personal lives. Later this morning, you'll be introduced to

Questions 4–6

Attention passengers: this is an announcement for travelers on Flight 286 bound for Toronto. Boarding will begin in approximately fifteen minutes at Gate 12. Before boarding, please make sure you have your passport, boarding pass, and any required travel documents ready to show our gate staff. If you are traveling with carry-on luggage, remember that each passenger is allowed one small suitcase and one personal item such as a purse or laptop bag. Any oversized items will need to be checked at the counter before boarding. Additionally, please note that today's flight is expected to arrive slightly ahead of schedule thanks to favorable weather conditions. Once we begin boarding, families with small children and passengers requiring assistance will be invited to board first, followed by all other groups. Please remain in the seating area until your group number is called. Thank you for your cooperation, and have a pleasant flight.

9. What will happen at the park?

Questions 10–12

Good afternoon, and welcome once again to the Downtown History Museum.

My name is Karen, and I'll be guiding your tour today. This museum is divided into several wings, each focusing on a different period of the city's development. We'll begin our visit on the ground floor, where the exhibits highlight the arrival of the first settlers. You'll see maps, journals, and tools that demonstrate how these pioneers established communities. After that, we'll proceed to the second floor, which houses a large collection related to the industrial period. There you'll find examples of machinery, photographs of early factories, and stories of the men and women who shaped the local economy. The third floor features temporary displays, and today's exhibition is dedicated to early forms of public transportation, including an actual restored streetcar. Before we start walking, please remember that photographs are allowed, but using flash is strictly prohibited.

Good morning, and thank you for tuning into the Business Hour on Channel 9. Today's segment focuses on the rising trend of remote work and how companies are adapting their office spaces. According to a recent national survey, nearly 60 percent of employees now work from home at least part of the week. While this has increased flexibility for workers, it has also created challenges for employers who must maintain collaboration, productivity, and company culture. Many businesses are downsizing their office buildings and instead investing in shared coworking hubs, technology platforms for video meetings, and training programs that emphasize teamwork in virtual environments. Interestingly, despite fewer people being physically present in offices, demand for ergonomic furniture and high-speed internet upgrades has grown steadily, suggesting that employees are eager to create professional home offices. Later in the program, we'll hear from a corporate consultant who will explain strategies for keeping remote teams motivated and connected.

Questions 16–18

Good afternoon, team. I'd like to remind everyone about the upcoming quarterly inventory check scheduled for next Wednesday and Thursday. This is an important process where we verify that the products recorded in our database match the actual items stored in the warehouse. It ensures accuracy in our reports and helps us identify any missing or misplaced goods. The audit

Questions 19–21

Welcome to today's travel feature on European destinations. For those of you planning a summer holiday, consider the city of Prague in the Czech Republic. It offers a fascinating mix of medieval architecture, lively markets, and beautiful river views. A must-see highlight is the Charles Bridge, lined with historic statues and bustling with artists and musicians. Another popular site is Prague Castle, which overlooks the city and provides sweeping panoramic views. Travelers often enjoy sampling the local cuisine, such as roasted pork with dumplings, paired with Czech beer, considered some of the best in the world. While public transportation is reliable, many visitors prefer walking through the Old Town to fully appreciate the cobblestone streets and Gothic churches. To make the most of your trip, purchase a visitor card, which includes entry to museums and unlimited rides on buses and trams. Prague is a destination that blends history, culture, and charm in one unforgettable experience.

Greenfield Park at 8:30 a.m. sharp, near the playground entrance. Gloves, shovels, and seedlings will be provided, but please bring your own reusable water bottle and wear clothes suitable for outdoor work. The goal is to plant over 200 native trees to help restore shaded areas along the walking paths. This initiative not only improves the environment but also provides cleaner air and cooler summer spaces for residents. After the work is finished, all volunteers are invited to gather at the picnic shelter for light refreshments and snacks. Please remember to sign in when you arrive so your participation can be recorded for community service hours. Thank you in advance for your time and energy in making our neighborhood greener and more enjoyable for everyone.

Questions 25–27

Ladies and gentlemen, this is an update for passengers traveling on Train 618 to Manchester. Due to earlier signaling problems along the northern route, this service will be delayed by about one hour. We understand this may cause inconvenience, so we've arranged for extra seating in the waiting lounge and will be offering complimentary bottled water and sandwiches for ticket holders. Simply present your boarding pass at the station café to collect these items. Updated departure times will be displayed on the digital boards throughout the concourse, and announcements will be made every fifteen

Questions 28–30

Welcome to the opening session of the International Food and Hospitality Expo. This three-day event brings together more than 250 exhibitors showcasing the latest trends in sustainable food production, restaurant technology, and catering services. You'll find everything from plant-based menu innovations to energy-efficient kitchen appliances. Live cooking demonstrations will be held throughout the day in Hall B, featuring well-known chefs who will share creative recipes and time-saving techniques. For attendees seeking business opportunities, the networking lounge offers a chance to meet suppliers and restaurant owners from across the globe. Don't forget to download the official expo app, where you can view the full schedule, check maps of exhibitor booths, and bookmark the sessions you want to attend. Whether you're here to explore new products, expand your professional connections, or simply enjoy the food samples, we hope you make the most of your experience at this year's expo.
