● Dialogue

A. Hey, Ray, what are you doing right now?

B. Not much, Joann. Do you want to hang out?

A. Yes, I do. I'm at home by myself right now with nothing much to do.

B. Me, too. What would you like to do?

A. Well, we could go to a movie. Have you seen Shrek 2?

B. I have, actually. How about the movie, Million Dollar Baby with Clint Eastwood?

A. Hmm... I've seen that, too. We could go for a walk in the park.

B. We could, but it looks like it's going to rain soon.

A. I guess that's out. Why don't we go shopping?

B. I'd really rather not. I'll be too tempted to buy something that I can't afford!

A. OK. I guess we'd be not do that, either, then. What do you want to do?

B. I don't know. Do you want to go bowling at the new bowling alley on 1st street?

A. I would like to, but I injured my wrist last weekend.

B. Let's see. Do you want to go to a bar and sing some karaoke?

A. That sounds interesting, but I can't drink alcohol with the medicine I'm taking.

B. Doesn't sound like that'd be fun, then. Do you want to come here?

A. I don't have a car.

B. Goodness, we're not having much luck here, are we?

A. No. Do you have a car?

B. No, but I could take the bus.

A. Oh, good. Why don't you take the bus to mine and we could play mahjong?

B. That's sounds great! Have you eaten?

A. Not yet. I'll cook dinner and have it ready by the time you get here.

B. Perfect. Are you prepared to give me all your money?

A. Huh? We are going to play for money, aren't we?

B. Oh, right. I suppose so. As long as you promise to lose!

A. Hey... as long as I'm not alone on Saturday night, I don't really care what I do!

B. See you soon.

A. Bye.
